Words
from Editor
Jacob Ip

It was jaw dropping when my computer died on me at 2am the day before deadline. In return, I enjoyed a moment in tranquility with myself and myself only in the office on a hot and rainy Sunday afternoon. I can see my fellow JC s have been engaged in bid book writing and annual general meetings. Tranquility is an enjoyment. However, most of us fear of sliding from solitude to loneliness. I wish each and every one of you will reserve some time for yourself to recuperate.

JCI Creed
WE BELIEVE

- ▶ That faith in God gives meaning and purpose to human life;
- ▶ That the brotherhood of man transcends the sovereignty of nations;
- ▶ That economic justice can best be won by free men through free enterprise;
- ▶ That government should be of laws rather than of men;
- ▶ That earth's great treasure lies in human personality;
- ▶ And that service to humanity is the best work of life."

Message from National President

We believe that Internationalism is one major attraction in our organization - Junior Chamber International.

Every year, there is a conference in each of the four areas-Asia Pacific, Americas, Africa and the Middle East, Europe-in summer and World Congress in autumn. These international conferences and congress provide us the platform to share our idea among different regions of the world. In JCI, we have 4,796 local organization members and 173,569 members in over 110 regions and countries.

JCI is the network of Active Citizens worldwide, providing impacts to community and society. Through the internationalism of JCI network, our members serve the betterment of the world. Each JCI member shares the belief that in order to create lasting positive change, we must improve ourselves and the world around us.

Our organization closely works with our partner United Nations, UNICEF, AIESEC, Pan American Health Organization (PAHO), International Chamber of Commerce –World Chambers Federation (ICC-WCF), Conference of Non-Governmental Organizations (CONGO), Pure Charity, United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) and United Nations Foundation. Collaboration with these global partners allows us to increase impact by sharing resources, engaging all sectors of society and creating shared value for the community. We can achieve more than working independently.

This issue of Harbour Lights introduces how this uniqueness of internationalism development of JCI could benefit our members as well as our community. Through the better understanding, I hope our members and readers get empowered by invaluable exposure to international opportunity.

Lastly, I wish you enjoy the Internationalism of JCI and look forward to meeting you all in JCI World Congress Rio de Janeiro in coming November.

Interview with PNP George Lung MH JP

Past National President George Lung is experienced and seasoned in international affairs. In his Junior Chamber International (abbreviated as "JCI") career as a leader, not only he mobilized the Hong Kong Jaycees to host the World Conference, he later on took up the leadership as JCI Vice President and JCI Executive Vice President, to lead and to guide JCs all around the world to be an active citizen.

Interview with PNP George Lung MH JP

G: Past National President George Lung

J: Jacob Ip

J: Thank you for Past National President George Lung in offering us an interview opportunity. Would you tell us your learning experience from a new member to be a JCI Executive Vice President?

G: At first when I participated in JCI projects, I had a so-so impression on the performance and people in JCI Hong Kong. Until I visited the Asia Pacific Conference in Macau, I opened my eyes. Works and tasks were well-delegated and worked like clockwork. This is when I found the passion in be hands on in JCI projects and activities.

To be honest, I grew up with lower self-esteem. I always felt inadequate. When I started my career, I strived to learn and develop myself. When I learned about "JCI is the largest youth international organization" from my colleagues, I joined my first JCI activity. When first introduced by the event host, I was so nervous I felt a sore in my knees. I have a fear in public speaking and to new environment. I decide to overcome my fears and challenge my comfort zone, and joining JCI.

J: What is the most impressive thing you found when serving in the world level in JCI?

G: Those who served in the world level are more committed.

J: This is a known fact that there are variances and difference amongst all cultures in the world. How did you cope with the difficulties aroused when you served JCI in the world circuit?

G: When comes to differences, this is important to recognize and acknowledge the existence of the difference. I personally am adaptive. I don't find it difficult in coping with change of circumstances over time.

J: Would you share some experience or stories?

G: When I was the JCI Vice President, I visited the Philippines. I was invited to an event starting at 8pm. I arrived on time, at 8pm. However, un. I was unable to delivery my speech until 11pm guests and members arrived.

On the context of delay in program of the event, this could be considered bad. It may seem the sense of punctuality is absent. However, if this is thought about in depth, there is else merit to be appreciated.

Rarely a JCI Vice President visits the Philippines, everyone in the Philippines JC wishes to attend the event. However, back in the years, traffic and public transportation were not convenient. In that case, the Philippines JCs carpoled from afar. Even though some of the JCs arrived at 11pm, I know they hopped onto the car immediately after work. This is real difficulties, but from that we understand the respect and hospitality the local JCs tried to deliver.

J: What would you advise the JCI Hong Kong and the 2014 Presidents of Hong Kong local chapters towards international affairs?

G: First and foremost, I hope each and every one of you will treasure the experience in JCI. Not only we are the largest international organization for young people, our system and culture is a real treasure. Think about it, every year our system and culture motivated several hundreds of new leaders to strive and innovate for JCI. Our culture and system switches leader on an annual basis, yet this could be uphold just fine over the years. We must treasure and preserve this culture, to foster the future development of JCI.

Secondly, each and every year's board of directors should consider the full picture. As mentioned above, we have new board of directors every year to allow more opportunities to members. In this situation, the leader tends to implement their plan in haste, prioritizing current year achievement over the strategic development for the oncoming years.

Jaycees “Stay Connected, Stay Inspired” in Gwangju, Korea

As ONE Jaycee, more than 140 JCI Hong Kong delegates united and traveled to Gwangju, Korea, for the 2013 JCI Asia-Pacific Conference (ASPAC). The Conference brought together more than 5,700 young active citizens from across the Asia-Pacific to share and to celebrate positive impact made in their communities and the world.

The JCI ASPAC, hosted by JCI Gwangju, was kicked off by a spectacular opening ceremony and welcome party filled with a mixed of high-tech musical laser show and traditional Korean performances. After a night of high-energy entertainment, delegates woke up early for an inspirational Morning Show on the second day of ASPAC. During the Morning Show, JCI Hong Kong made an important donation of US$21,500 for the Nothing But Nets campaign (raised from the “Nothing But Ramen” project in Hong Kong), which could send 2,150 nets to save more than 2,000 children’s lives in Africa against Malaria.

Spanning a wide variety of global issues such as poverty, hunger, equality, disease, education, and sustainability. It was a meaningful event that participants experienced the simulated life as a refugee, facing fears and being helpless. The simulation ended with a debriefing for the participants to discuss about the simulative experience. The participants from different Nationalities including Thailand, Italy, Philippines, Britain, America, Mainland China and Hong Kong had a fruitful discussion. We hoped that the awareness to the refugee would be spread to friends of the participants, and more peoples would contribute and help the refugees.

Our projects also go international to echo with the UN Global Compact and United Nations Millennium Development Goals (UNMDG).
