Message from the National President of JCI Hong Kong

Dear SDGs-activists and JCI members,

Next Stage: Be Goal Keepers

Since the launching of SDGs campaign in JCI Hong Kong in 2016, right after world leaders gathered at the United Nations to pledge their commitment to another 15 years of comprehensively addressing global challenges, we have been gathering in Hong Kong hundreds of local determined leaders and givers, to share ideas and take action to help achieve the Global Goals targets by 2030.

Ensuring the community is explicitly included in the SDGs and impact is well measured, another crucial step has been initiated in 2017 in JCI Hong Kong, to continuously educate our members and partners what SDGs are and collect important data of our work in the projects of 21 affiliated local chapters.

In this SDGs report, JCI Hong Kong members' effort to "Be the Goal Keeper" is fully demonstrated through sustainable project and the focus on collecting important data for the future measurement of the impact. We wish to collaborate with different Goal Keepers and determined individuals to make the good things spread faster and wider.

Under the two pages of facts about Hong Kong, we try to find out the root of the problem in Hong Kong and continue to focus on the work to alleviate poverty, for the fact that the number of impoverished Hongkongers surged to 1.34 million, reaching a six-year high record. We also continue to conduct the survey to keep track on the progress of SDGs activists after their work done in 2016.

We live in a world of human suffering, environmental destruction, violence, and inequality. In helping to heal all the wounds, we, as active citizen and caring beings, have something to give, be it time, money, wisdom, love and many other things.

We believe giving is a beautiful experience and will add more meaning to our life and help build a better world. With 533 local projects and over 6 million target audiences and 1190 partners engaged, I want to dedicate our achievement in 2017 to all those who give –of time, of wisdom, of wealth and of love.

This is Our Home, Hong Kong

Hong Kong, “Pearl of the Orient”, is one of the world’s most significant financial centres. Her land area covers 1,106 km^2, consists of Hong Kong Island, the Kowloon Peninsula, the New Territories, and over 200 offshore islands. It has a very high human development index ranking and the world’s longest life expectancy. Over 90% of the population makes use of well-developed public transportation system. Hong Kong is a prosperous city in the world’s view, but many people are still living in poor condition and stressful life under work or study. How could we give our helping hands to our beloved city?

Love is All Around - JCI City

As of now, over 8,000 types of rare diseases have been identified by the medical industry. Despite a population size of around 10,000 people diagnosed with rare diseases in Hong Kong, they have always been de-prioritized in the government's medical subsidy budget and are often off the radar of the community and charity organizations support. JCI City launched the "Love is All Around" project series with an aim to elevate the overall community awareness and facilitate involvement in supporting these families. One rare disease would be selected as the focal point each year, and Rett Syndrome was the theme for 2017.

Children's Play Rights - JCI Tsuen Wan

"Children's Play Rights", a new flagship project organized by JCI Tsuen Wan, was created to promote play time amongst children, as well as their parents. Children in Hong Kong seldom enjoy such play time since their parents always would like them to win even starting from being in their Mother's womb. According to the Campaign - Convention on the Right of Child (CRC) launched by the United Nations, children should have the right to play, and learn to make sense of the world around them through play. Thereby, JCI Tsuen Wan organized this meaningful flagship project, which included a carnival for kids to play freely and a Music Festival, with the purpose to encourage parents to spare free play time for their children.

No Food Waste - JCI Yuen Long

Poon choi is a traditional Chinese dish once common throughout China. It first spread to the walled villages in New Territories, Hong Kong, and then to the rest of the territory. It is a Cantonese cuisine served in large wooden, porcelain or metal basins due to the communal style of consumption. The Chinese name, transliterated as Poon choi, has been variously translated as "big bowl feast", "basin cuisine" or "Chinese casserole".

Poon choi gatherings are popular not only in the JC circle but also in Hong Kong traditional culture. This year, over 300 participants attended JCI Yuen Long's “No Food Wastage” banquet which demonstrated UNSDG #12 - Responsible Consumption and Production.

Last year, we raised HK citizens awareness that Paper Towels are non-recyclable which over 60% of HK citizens are not aware of this fact. This year, we kept reminding our citizens to be aware of this issue. Also, we co-organized with a well-known NGO which was World Green Organization (WGO) in order to broaden our exposure and impact. We successfully invited 300 restaurants to post our stickers about reducing paper towel usage in their toilets. We recruited over 15 volunteers on the crowded streets of Causeway Bay to complete a survey about the paper towel habits of HK citizens. The results of the survey were announced in August and attracted over 55 media including newspaper, radio and online platforms to report on our project.
